The Mediation Question—One of the most delicate and at the same time, most important questions upon which Congress has been called to act is the subject of mediation by foreign powers The Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs had the matter under special consideration, and agreed unanimously upon a series of resolutions, to be transmitted to foreign ministers with instructions to lay them before the governments to which they are respectively accredited These resolutions are in substance as follows

First while Congress may have accepted mediation in international questions, it can not receive aid from abroad in arresting domestic troubles, and will regard every proposition of foreign interference as unseasonable and inadmissible Second the Government is grappling with a rebellion seeking to erect a power upon the corner stone of slavery, and foreign interference can but aid this undertaking, and will therefore be looked upon as unfriendly. Third the rebellion having been encouraged by the belief that cotton was king, must yield if not sustained by that hope, and it is the duty of foreign powers to inform the chiefs of the rebellion that any attempt to found a new government, with slavery for its corner-stone, is offensive to civilization —Fourth, the war will be vigorously prosecuted.

These resolutions have the concurrence of Messrs Henderson, Davis and Hicks, Border State Senators, and passed through both Houses with but little opposition.

From the Bitter Root Country—Mr Charles Hutchins, Indian agent for the Flathead Indians, arrived here on Tuesday evening. We are indebted to him for a specimen of gold bearing rock, different from any we have before seen, from the Beaver Head mines. It is a burnt rock and very rotten Great excitement prevails over the discoveries, and claims were held as high as $10,000 and in one instance $15,000 had been refused. He gives us much other information, in substance the same as furnished to the Washington Statesman, which we copy :

Mr. Hutchins came by way of the Pend d' Oreille lake, and found the rivers much swollen by melting snows, and travel much impeded in consequence

In the month of January, a horrible killing affair occurred near the Flat Head Agency, in which some persons, well known in this vicinity, were the principal actors Their names were Mitchell, Reeves and Moore These three men went into an Indian camp near the Agency, and raised a disturbance, killing two of the Indians on the spot. Two white men came on the ground to see what had taken place, when five more of the Indians and the two white men were killed by the Reeves party. The Indians who were killed belonged to a band of Mountain Snakes Reeves and party were banished from the country for the part they had taken in the affair, six hundred miles from the Agency, but at last accounts were in the Deer Lodge valley

Quartz mining at the Beaver Head diggings was creating much excitement and claims had been sold at $5,000 and $10,000, and in one instance, $15,000 was refused. A large influx of mining adventurers was expected from the Western States, and a prosperous time is expected

New discoveries have been made on the head of Gold creek, which flows towards the Pacific—probably a tributary of the Bitter Root river. They are spoken of as very rich but their extent and character are not yet determined.

The Blackfeet Indians are very troublesome, and frequent depredations are committed by them. Recently, Mr Frank Worden, of Hellgate, started for Fort Benton with a train of thirty animals, intending himself, to go down to St. Louis, and the Indians stole all of his animals. The general government is paying these Indians an annual stipend of $38,000 a year to keep the peace, which had better be expended in powder and lead This opinion is universally entertained in that region, and it will probably have some influence in determining the conduct of the Government towards these incorrigible savages

A batteau, loaded with passengers left Fort Benton this Spring, with one hundred and fifty pounds of gold from the Beaver Head mines The display of such evidence of the mineral wealth of the Rocky Mountains must have a most exciting effect on the people of the East.

General Lew Wallace has addressed to the Ohio Legislature a manly and patriotic response to the resolutions thanking him for his services, in the course of which he says This is neither "Lincoln's war " nor a war for negroes," nor a war for conquest, or glory, or party. It is the people's war for free government. The only distinction that can be made between the hero who fell at Bunker Hill and the hero who fell at Shiloh, is, one died to establish free government, the other died to perpetuate it —both are martyrs to liberty Will the people abandon their cause? God forbid !

Beware when Copperheads cry peace
They for themselves are only crying "
The piece they want is not the peace
Which keeps their fellow men from dying,
The nation's blood might run in seas
If Traitors like them ruled that nation,
And gave them each his wanted piece
From out the spoils of desolation

Why it Won't—The Mountain Democrat seems to think that there is an even chance that California will soon "go for the democratic party " It is an amusing delusion California will not go for the democratic party, for the reason that the democratic party might gopher California.—Sacramento Union.

Five Twenty Bonds—Rate of Interest—The National Debt—A correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger having propounded a number of questions concerning 5 20 bonds the rate of interest, etc that paper responds as follows

1st The 5 20 bonds are so called from the fact that the Government has the right to redeem in gold in five years, or it may let them run twenty years

2d The rate of interest on them is six per cent payable semi annually in gold on the first days of May and November at the United States Mint or at any sub treasury in any part of the United States

3d The bonds are both coupon and registered at the option of the purchaser The coupons may be collected by cutting them off and forwarding them to the mint or sub treasury or by depositing them with the nearest bank for collection The interest on the registered bonds may be collected in person or by power of attorney to any friend or agent

4th The bonds may be obtained from Jay Cooke in certificates of any amounts desired, from $100 to $10 000 Mr Cooke is the government agent for their sale

5th Payment may be made in any of the legal tender greenbacks, in the notes of any solvent bank, or by draft on any responsible bank or banking house in the city

6th The gold in which the interest on these bonds is paid is derived from receipts for customs revenues the sale of stamps etc which is much in excess of the interest on the funded debt The probabilities are that these sources of supply will keep the Treasury in condition to meet all its obligations for interest in coin

7th The amount of the funded debt of the nation at this time is set down at less than $300,000,000, but the liabilities of the Government for deposits at the several sub treasuries legal tenders adjusted claims etc, swell the amount to some $800,000,000 or $900,000,000 Should the war continue a year and a half longer the Secretary of the Treasury estimates that the aggregate debt may be swelled to some $1 700,000 000 or $1 800,000 000—a much less sum than other nations, with less resources, have emerged from their wars with

'Seward was Right '—Some thirty years ago, Mr Seward in the Senate of New York characterized political secret societies as inimical to Republican government and social welfare, for which he was denounced and ridiculed as never a public man had been since the days of Jefferson But the experience of the past, with the history of the "Know Nothings" and the "Knights of the Golden Circle," has led the people to admit that 'Seward was right '

A few years later, he was chosen Governor of his native State, when he gave it as his opinion that the canals of New York could (not should) sustain a debt of $40,000,000 What a howl of abuse and incredulity followed, many of the present day will remember He was for a time nicknamed in ridicule, ' Forty Million Debt Seward ' The revenues of the canals, however have ever exceeded his prophetic sagacity so that for 1862, the amount equals one eighth of the famous $40,000 000 Of course nobody can now deny that ' Seward was right '

Gov Seward also suggested plans of legislation to favor foreign immigration, which next to his proposition for universal education, brought down upon him more venomous detraction than has almost any great act of his life But who is now so short-sighted as to deny that Seward was right '

In the Senate of the United States he dared to assert that there was a ' Higher Law '' in the face of such a storm of denial and abuse as would have annihilated a lesser man Silently, but surely, the infidels of 1850, ceasing to scoff, in this great hour of trial have come to confess that ' Seward was right '

And when, at Rochester, he startled and enraged anew the upholders of slavery by his revelation of the "irrepressible conflict," even his less timid friends feared he had gone too far But the blazing light of present experience convinces the most doubting that 'Seward was right '

As in the past, so to day he is doubted, misrepresented misconceived and maligned —by a much less number than heretofore it is true, but the world is the same now as ever To the young—to those who have lately come on to the stage of political action—the present abuse of Mr Seward may seem threatening and almost overwhelming while to others, who have marked his whole course for more than a generation, it is but the ebullition of a fickle public, or of disappointed, envious politicians A wise and experienced observer recently remarked, 'I have seen Mr Seward in many darker places than he now appears to some, yet the light is sure to come in even greater effulgence Every time the great wheel goes round, he ever comes uppermost "

His policy may be doubted now his words and acts misunderstood and distorted but the time is sure to come when all will say, ' Seward was right "—Buffalo Com Adv

Mining News—The miners are doing well at Bannock City and Placerville Gold and silver quartz has been discovered in the Boise mines. There have been rich diggings discovered on Wood river, or the east fork of Boise, these mines are said to be about fifty miles from Placerville Grass and water in abundance

Placerville and Bannock City are improving rapidly the buildings now being put up are mostly frame and of a substantial character There are two saw mills in operation in the vicinity of these two places, and lumber is selling at $200 per M A great many whip saws are also running and the sawyers making as high as $40 per day to the saw

Vague reports reach us of new and extensive diggings having been discovered in a basin some 25 or 30 miles south of Warren's diggings The report seems to need confirmation

The news from the bars on Salmon is still very encouraging Miners report that they are making from $7 to an ounce per day The great advantage in mining on the Salmon bars is that miners can work nearly all the year round

Latest accounts from Boise through Mr Messman state that the vanguard of Standifer's Indian hunters had arrived at Placerville, bringing in thirty two horses seven scalps and two prisoners

Three companies of the 1st Oregon Cavalry will leave Fort Walla Walla for Lapwai, on Monday, to be present at the council with the Nez Perces on the 10th inst

A large number of mining laborers are in request at Oro Fino at $5 a day and board —Wash Statesman

The experience of this war has shown a fact which our naval constructors will do well to profit by without further loss of time The evidence is now conclusive that notwithstanding the labor and treasure expended in bringing ironclad vessels to that point known as invulnerability common wooden steamers with iron prows, and vital parts well protected even by cotton bales, are capable, in the hands of fearless commanders of performing exploits which the ironclads dare not attempt, and more than this, that the ironclads are powerless against these more active assailants

Miscellaneous Paragraphs

An Irish pedagogue recently informed his pupils that the feminine gender should be applied to all ships and vessels afloat, excepting mail steamers and men of war

A Scotchman asked an Irishman why were half farthings coined in England ? The answer was "To give Scotchmen an opportunity to subscribe to charitable associations "

Cotton has been received at San Francisco from Japan Let our war go on for two or three years longer and there will be so much cotton raised in other countries as to throw that of the South out of the market

There are indications of a short supply of breadstuffs at the South. The Mobile Register thus appeals to the people ' Let every man, woman, and child at home with a yard square of ground scratch it and put it in corn Every grain carefully intrusted to the fruitful earth is a mite of contribution to the nation's liberty Every acre of cotton planted is a comfort to our enemies and a nail in the coffin of Confederate independence

John Van Buren is abused by the copperheads Cause—he says that nothing but war will answer with the South, and he is for giving the South enough of it, and to spare In his late New York speech, Mr Van Buren pointed out that the powers conferred on President Lincoln are no greater than those which were conferred on President Van Buren at the time of the Maine boundary troubles, in 1839

An Army on the March—This spectacle I have seen It is a novel one and suggestive What say you to droves of armed men, of a brigade or division in a procession two or three miles long? Following them are regiments of cavalry and batteries of artillery, and were the line kept unbroken it would then be lengthened a mile or so more Then comes on a train of ambulances and wagons, numbering as high as 400, most of them drawn by four and six mules or horses This will add two or three miles more and you have a procession five to eight miles in length Such a one passed a point on the road where I was staying It was over four hours in passing and with little stoppage and the mules and horses certainly walked two and a half miles per hour If the road is dry, the cloud of dust thus kicked up is really prodigious " I have seen dust in Illinois—breathed it in the streets and suburbs of Chicago—but I never before wallowed in dust, and ate it down in great gulphs, until getting mixed in with these army trains This description of a procession refers only to one division or brigade—say ten thousand men, with their teams, etc Imagine eight or ten such processions, and you see this great army in motion

Farming East of the Mountains—Mr Shepherd informs us that the farmers in Grand Ronde Powder river, Payette and Boise river valleys are putting in large quantities of grain, some of which is already up and looking well These valleys bid fair to become great grain growing districts The soil looks well and breaks up easily. The farmers expect to reap a rich reward for their labors —Statesman.

A. B. Richardson was fined five dollars and costs for fast riding through the streets.

J. Harris was fined ten dollars and costs for fast riding.

MISS MITCHELL'S BENEFIT.—Although we were not favored with the usual compliments on this occasion, still we were pleased to learn that a large audience were present last night, to witness the beautiful play of "The Wife," upon the occasion of Miss Edith Mitchell's Benefit, and that general satisfaction seemed to be felt by all present. To-night the great [illegible] Drama of "La Tour de Nesle" will be played, and having seen the play performed by this troupe upon a former evening, we say "advisedly" when we say that it is well worth going to see.

DISTINGUISHED ARRIVAL.—The notorious Boon Helm arrived at this city last evening, on the Cowlitz, accompanied by two or three officers and a strong guard, en route to Florence City, where he goes to meet the justice due for the crime of murder. We learn that he took lodgings at the "Hotel de Goble."

Oregon State Insane Asylum.

The following is the report of the Medical Board of Inspection upon the Insane Asylum near this city:

PORTLAND, OREGON, May 2d, 1863.
His Excellency, ADDISON C. GIBBS,
Governor of Oregon:

SIR:—Agreeably to your desire we made an inspection in company, to the Oregon Insane Asylum, on the 1st inst.

We have the honor to report 29 inmates in the institution—24 males and 5 females. The [illegible] of one or two is such as to encourage the belief that, in a short time, their [illegible] may probably be expedient. The [illegible] seem to be zealously engaged in having the grounds graded and improved, and it is their intention to surround the whole with a neat and substantial enclosure. The rooms for the Insane are capacious, cleanly, and well ventilated; the Wardens affable and efficient, and the inmates, almost unexceptionably, express themselves as being well cared for. Upon the whole the general management by the Resident Physician seems to be such as to merit our general approbation.

We have the honor to be, Sir,
Very respectfully,
Your obed't serv'ts,
R. GLISAN,
R. B. WILSON,
Visiting and Inspecting Physicians to the Oregon Insane Asylum.

Resolved, That the Secretary be ordered to have the above published in the daily papers of the city.

The Army of the Potomac.

WASHINGTON, April 1st.—That part of the great Union anaconda which interposes between here and Richmond is rapidly recovering from the torpor of Winter and its returning activity may be taken as a sure indication that the contracting process by which the rebellion must be crushed out is again about to be attempted. Two weeks at most will see the Army of the Potomac again set in battle array against Richmond, and the month will hardly pass without another being added to the many sanguinary battlefields of Virginia. The campaign will open and end in decisive results, favorable to the Union arms inside of sixty days, if the confident assertions of the military authorities are to be believed. Gen. Hooker is understood to be well satisfied with the condition of the army, thinks the rebels are just where he wants them, and promises to make short work of them when he once begins. He professes to see the errors committed by Generals McClellan, Pope and Burnside, severely criticises their operations, and is confident he can take Richmond before the first of June. Let us hope that Gen. Hooker is as great a military genius as he thinks himself, while we patiently wait for him to prove it by his works.

We have lately been entertained by a variety of most conflicting reports concerning the rebel army in Virginia. Some accounts perseveringly state that General Lee is falling back from the Rappahannock and that the rebel Government is evacuating Richmond, while others inform us that the rebel army is still in heavy force on the south side of the Rappahannock, with no intention of taking the back track without a defeat, that it is engaged in strengthening fortifications and building others commanding the passage of the river, that its numbers have not been depleted as much as supposed, the reinforcements sent to the West and South having been supplied by other troops, mostly conscripts and finally, that General Lee so far from finding himself embarrassed by a lack of troops, is able to send a heavy force of cavalry and infantry north of the river towards Culpepper, Warrenton and Front Royal, for the double purpose of observation and foraging. These discrepancies can only affect the ignorant and foolish. The first reports are notoriously false, and the last faithfully represent the situation on the rebel side. Jeff Davis will never leave Richmond unless driven thence by Union bayonets, and Lee will not fall back a mile unless with the design of securing a better position for giving battle. The rebel army on the Rappahannock yet numbers fifty thousand, and this force fighting behind earthworks can oppose a bloody and perhaps effective resistance to any army brought against them. It is only by a flank movement, avoiding a direct attack like that of Fredericksburg, and turning their defenses, that they can be made to retreat, and then only in the event they are satisfied they cannot win in a pitched battle. That General Hooker will operate by a flank movement there is no doubt, and, until that is accomplished no credence can be placed in reports of the enemy falling back from their strongholds on the south bank of the Rappahannock.

Considerable importance appears to be attached to the circumstance that the rebels are just now pushed to supply sufficient food for their armies, a fact which is established by information from reliable sources, and confirmed by various circumstances.

Deserters from the rebels on the Rappahannock state that Lee's army is subsisting upon short rations of corn bread and rice, with a quarter of a pound of beef or bacon to each man per day, and that any other articles of food are not to be had. This report is partially confirmed by the extensive foraging expedition of the enemy, now ravaging the country outside of our lines between the Rappahannock and Shenandoah, where they are gathering up all the breadstuffs, grain, cattle and horses, and sending them to the army south of the Rappahannock. Their supplies in the rear must be short, otherwise they would not be found sweeping this district bare of supplies, and leaving their own friends almost in a state of destitution.

The condition of General Lee's army in this respect is no doubt the same as that of all other rebel forces in the field. They are short of food, and are living from hand to mouth, partly upon the short supplies of the Richmond Quartermaster's Department, and partly upon what they obtain from foraging the already exhausted country around about them.

This feature of the rebel situation has revived the hope that they may be starved out, but it must be recollected they were in the same condition this time last year, and were more desperately pushed for supplies later in the season, yet they struggled through the period of scarcity until new and abundant crops came to their relief, and it is fair to presume the same will be the case this year. The lack of sufficient and suitable supplies for their armies can have no result upon the issue of the war, unless the scarcity amounts to famine, and the privations demoralize and disorganize the rebel forces. But there is no danger of famine, and though the scarcity may be great and pinching, the war has already shown that the spirit of the Southern troops will not yield to any condition in regard to food short of actual starvation. The deserters who bring the reports of the scarcity and hard fare upon which Lee's army is now subsisting also assert that the circumstance has little or no damaging effect upon the spirits of the rebels, whom, they say, are in as good fighting condition as ever, both in body and mind. From now until the first of June, this dearth of food in the South will continue, and the scarcity may become much greater, but unless supplies totally fail it will result in nothing favorable to the Union cause. The people and the armies will manage to live upon what they have, if it can be done until that time, when another period of plenty will begin.

The wheat harvest begins in Central Virginia about the second week in June, in Southern Virginia about the first of that month; in North Carolina about the last of May, and in South Carolina, Georgia and the Gulf States about the middle of May. By the middle of next June, a heavy wheat crop will be gathered throughout all these States, and by the first of July the new grain will be in the market. A very large breadth of land was sown last Fall and the latest reports state the prospects of a heavy yield very promising. This is particularly the case in Central and South Virginia, south of Gordonsville, and west of Richmond, where large tracts of land, formerly planted in tobacco, are now producing wheat. During the past Winter passengers traveling from Richmond to Lynchburg, and thence to Gordonsville and Staunton, state that every farm along the railroads was planted in wheat and rye, and that in some localities the cleared country was fairly green with the newly springing grain. This crop, when gathered, will replenish the Southern flour market, and as there is but a two months' interval before harvest time, it is not likely that the rebels will starve in this interim. Assuming that, at this day, they are drawing upon their last resources of food, the soil, which yields to good and bad alike, is already coming to their relief with its bounteous products. The early fruits and vegetables of Spring will be produced in abundance in a few weeks, and these can be largely used for food, and will be, if necessary, by the people in order to make the supply of breadstuffs last for the wants of their armies until the Summer harvests bring plenty to all. Any circumstance tending to cripple the strength of the rebels and bring the war to a termination without further blood shed, by convincing them their efforts cannot avail, are most devoutly to be wished for, but we have no reason to be entertained that a temporary scarcity of supplies will have any such effect. They cannot be starved out as long as they hold the territory at present in their possession, and when that is wrested from them by force of arms their defeat will be complete.—*Cor. INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters (purely vegetable) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood-gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters, which instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public, and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,
PHYSICIANS,
and
CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.
J. NEWTON BROWN.
PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whisky or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt: Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine-tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans:—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy-two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances, and accordingly the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.
Very truly yours, ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life.
